

Statistics for the SDGs - indicators for national priorities

Priority   Active pro-family policy	Name of the indicator	5.2.a Percentage of children aged 1-2 covered by different kinds of institutional care
Definition  Share of children covered by institutional care in total number of children aged 1-2.  Unit  percent [%]  Available dimentions  Different kinds of institutional care have been introduced by the Law on Childcare for children up tothe age of 3 dated 4 February 2011, in force since 4 April 2011 and the provisions concerning nannies -since October 2011.  The law provides for the following types of care: nursery, children's clubs, day carer and nanny, forchildren up to the age of 3. Pursuant to the Act, the nurseries are no longer part of the health caresystem and the care exercised in them is not the health service. By 2011 children were taken care ofin nurseries and nursery wards.  Children in nurseries and children's clubs:  Children under the care of a day carer as of the last day of the reporting period (data come fromreports on the implementation of tasks related to the care for children up to the age of 3).  The number of nannies (it is assumed that one child is under the care of one nanny) registered insocial security or health insurance (data are provided, pursuant to the art. 53 of the above-mentioned law, to the Minister responsible for the family policy by the Social Insurance Institution).  Data source  the Ministry of Family and Social Policy  Annual data; since 2011  Data for 2022 do not include information on the number of nannies due to the ongoing works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on  13-02-2023	Sustainable Development Goal	Goal 5. Gender equality
Unit percent [%]  Available dimentions total  Different kinds of institutional care have been introduced by the Law on Childcare for children up tothe age of 3 dated 4 February 2011, in force since 4 April 2011 and the provisions concerning nannies -since October 2011.  The law provides for the following types of care: nursery, children's clubs, day carer and nanny, forchildren up to the age of 3. Pursuant to the Act, the nurseries are no longer part of the health caresystem and the care exercised in them is not the health service. By 2011 children were taken care ofin nurseries and nursery wards.  Children in nurseries and children's clubs:  Children under the care of a day carer as of the last day of the reporting period (data come fromreports on the implementation of tasks related to the care for children up to the age of 3).  The number of nannies (it is assumed that one child is under the care of one nanny) registered insocial security or health insurance (data are provided, pursuant to the art. 53 of the above-mentioned law, to the Minister responsible for the family policy by the Social Insurance Institution).  Data source the Ministry of Family and Social Policy  Annual data; since 2011  Data for 2022 do not include information on the number of nannies due to the ongoing works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on 13-02-2023	Priority	Active pro-family policy
Different kinds of institutional care have been introduced by the Law on Childcare for children up tothe age of 3 dated 4 February 2011, in force since 4 April 2011 and the provisions concerning nannies -since October 2011.  The law provides for the following types of care: nursery, children's clubs, day carer and nanny, forchildren up to the age of 3. Pursuant to the Act, the nurseries are no longer part of the health caresystem and the care exercised in them is not the health service. By 2011 children were taken care ofin nurseries and nursery wards.  Children in nurseries and children's clubs:  Children under the care of a day carer as of the last day of the reporting period (data come fromreports on the implementation of tasks related to the care for children up to the age of 3).  The number of nannies (it is assumed that one child is under the care of one nanny) registered insocial security or health insurance (data are provided, pursuant to the art. 50 of the above-mentioned law, to the Minister responsible for the family policy by the Social Insurance Institution).  Data source  the Ministry of Family and Social Policy  Data availability  Annual data; since 2011  Data for 2022 do not include information on the number of nannies due to the ongoing works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on	Definition	Share of children covered by institutional care in total number of children aged 1-2.
Different kinds of institutional care have been introduced by the Law on Childcare for children up tothe age of 3 dated 4 February 2011, in force since 4 April 2011 and the provisions concerning nannies -since October 2011.  The law provides for the following types of care: nursery, children's clubs, day carer and nanny, forchildren up to the age of 3. Pursuant to the Act, the nurseries are no longer part of the health caresystem and the care exercised in them is not the health service. By 2011 children were taken care ofin nurseries and nursery wards.  Children in nurseries and children's clubs:  Children under the care of a day carer as of the last day of the reporting period (data come fromreports on the implementation of tasks related to the care for children up to the age of 3).  The number of nannies (it is assumed that one child is under the care of one nanny) registered insocial security or health insurance (data are provided, pursuant to the art. 50 of the above-mentioned law, to the Minister responsible for the family policy by the Social Insurance Institution).  Data source  the Ministry of Family and Social Policy  Annual data; since 2011  Data for 2022 do not include information on the number of nannies due to the ongoing works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on  13-02-2023	Unit	percent [%] children up tothe age of 3 dated 4 February 2011, in force since 4 April 2011 and the provisions concerning nannies -since October 2011.  The law provides for the following types of care: nursery, children's clubs, day carer and nanny, forchildren up to the age of 3. Pursuant to the Act, the nurseries are no longer part of the health caresystem and the care exercised in them is not the health service. By 2011 children were taken care ofin nurseries and nursery wards.  Methodological explanations  Children in nurseries and children's clubs:  Children under the care of a day carer as of the last day of the reporting period (data come from period on the implementation of tasks related to the care for children up to the age of 3).  The number of nannies (it is assumed that one child is under the care of one nanny) registered insocial security or health insurance (data are provided, pursuant to the art. 50 of the above-mentioned law, to the Minister responsible for the family policy by the Social Insurance Institution).  Data source  the Ministry of Family and Social Policy  Annual data; since 2011  Notes  Data or 2022 do not include information on the number of nannies due to the ongoing works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on  13-02-2023	Available dimentions	total
Data availability  Annual data; since 2011  Data for 2022 do not include information on the number of nannies due to the ongoing works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on  13-02-2023	Methodological explanations	children up tothe age of 3 dated 4 February 2011, in force since 4 April 2011 and the provisions concerning nannies -since October 2011.  The law provides for the following types of care: nursery, children's clubs, day carer and nanny, forchildren up to the age of 3. Pursuant to the Act, the nurseries are no longer part of the health caresystem and the care exercised in them is not the health service. By 2011 children were taken care ofin nurseries and nursery wards.  Children in nurseries and children's clubs:  Children under the care of a day carer as of the last day of the reporting period (data come fromreports on the implementation of tasks related to the care for children up to the age of 3).  The number of nannies (it is assumed that one child is under the care of one nanny) registered insocial security or health insurance (data are provided, pursuant to the art. 53 of the above-mentioned law, to the Minister responsible for the family policy by the Notes  Data for 2022 do not include information on the number of nannies due to the ongoing works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on  13-02-2023	Data source	the Ministry of Family and Social Policy works on closing the reporting period for this year.  Data updated on 13-02-2023	Data availability	Annual data; since 2011
	Notes
Metadata updated on 13-02-2023	Data updated on	13-02-2023
	Metadata updated on	13-02-2023